

Listed below are the 2009 USAFP Annual Meeting faculty members that indicated a conflict of interest.

Allen J. Dietrich, MD: Conflict Indicated - I am one of two principals in a consulting firm, 3CM, LLC, that provides consultation services to health care organizations in the United States, including the Department of Defense, the City of New York, the Veterans Administration, and various insurance plans. Our firm assists organizations in the implementation of depression/PTSD management approaches in adults.

Joe Endrizzi, MD: Conflict Indicated - Consultant, Boston Scientific Consultant, American Medical Systems Consultant, Allergan Shareholder, Uroplasty Senior Partner, USHPP

Listed below are the 2009 USAFP Annual Meeting faculty members that indicated they would potentially discuss unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices.

Manny Alsina, MD: Potential discussion of unapproved drugs.

Kurt Elward, MD: The content of my lecture/materials includes discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices as indicated - Given the content of the questions, there may be some mention of certain uses that are not formally FDA approved but are standard and evidence based practice. (e.g., Amitriptyline or gabapentin for diabetic neuropathy)

Gregory Jones, MD: The content of my lecture/materials includes discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices as indicated - I will include a discussion of Factor VIIa used in massive transfusion.

Robert Marshall, MD: The content of my lecture/materials includes discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices as indicated - All but one treatment for RLS is off label. All therapies I will discuss have at least some evidence for efficacy.

Kevin O'Connor, DO: The content of my lecture/materials includes discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices as indicated - The content will include some off-label use recommendations (i.e. fentanyl lozenges). Any off-label recommendations will be clearly indicated during the presentation.

All other faculty members indicated no conflict of interest or discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices.